

Saturday 16 September 2017 10:00-12:00

Christ Church URC

164 New London Road, Chelmsford CM2 0AW

As part of this seminar Jean Burrows will be outlining how those who hold lists of people's addresses, phone numbers, bank account details etc on their computers will need to ensure this information is secure when the new General Data Protection Regulations come into force in May 2018.

The session will, however, be of interest to anybody worried that your computer will get a virus, that your online banking will be hacked, or any of the rest of the myriad of problems that comes from being online? Don't know what a firewall or malware are? Don't worry Jean will be answering these questions and many more.

If you are interested in attending this seminar please contact Jean at 164cm2office@gmail.com or via the Church Office 01245 354529.

To quote Corporal Jones "Don't Panic! Don't Panic!" It isn't difficult to remain safe online once you know what you need to do and how to do it. Jean will be giving you some illustrated handouts to take away with you, so that you will be sure your data will be as secure as it can be.
